Serra

Serra invites us to experience the outdoors lounging, barefoot, with nonchalance and refinement. Like a banana leaf or a chistera, its enveloping structure of taut ropes cradles soft, sensual cushions, offering a haven of relaxation.

With its fluid forms, it is equally at home dans la forêt primaire, adding a touch of modernity to the dry-stone walls of a Corsican villa as well as softening the edges of contemporary architecture.

Serra, the natural easy chic chill out place.

Gum

A collection that traces a subtle dialogue between structure and comfort, where a continuous tubular line draws the essential gesture that envelops and supports each piece. The warmth of the upholstery and the geometric purity of the tables create a serene balance, evoking a timeless elegance that dwells between architecture and landscape.

Jean-Marie Massaud

Since the beginning of his career (a 1990 graduate of Paris’ ENSCI-Les Ateliers, Paris Design Institute), has been working on an extensive range of works, stretching from architecture to objects, from one-off project to serial ones, from macro environment down to micro contexts.

Beyond his elegant designs, his quest for lightness –in matters of essence– synthesize three broader stakes: individual and collective fulfillment, economic and industrial efficiency, and environmental concerns. “I’m trying to find an honest, generous path with the idea that, somewhere between the hard economic data, there are users. People.”

Ramón Esteve

Ramón Esteve Cambra is Architect and Designer; arising one facet as a consequence of the other. In 1991, he founded Ramón Esteve Estudio with the premise that architecture is a global discipline.

His training as an architect became a transversal vision where Architecture and Design form one single concept, almost inseparable, both generated under the same laws and the same design premises. Its aim is the development of complete environments through a mutual interaction between both disciplines, so design acts on architecture and vice versa and the importance and difficulty of both disciplines are equally acknowledged.

Eugeni Quitllet

The Catalan designer Eugeni Quitllet was born on 17th April 1972 in Ibiza. He graduated from ‘La Llotja’ art school in Barcelona. Through his creative vocabulary he exceeds simple relationships between function and style unveiling innovative objects.

Between drawing, sculpture and contemporary archaeology, Quitllet literally reveals silhouettes hidden in the material, extremely visual skeletal objects elegantly master fullness and emptiness often with a touch of humour: the Masters chair combines the 3 contours of legendary seats by Eames, Saarinen and Jacobsen, the K Ray lamp is an organic UFO, a network of veins hollowed out of the material which results in an object suspended in a frame, his signature method prevalent naturally in several of the designer’s projects: the Shine vases, the Light Air lamp, the O’Clock lamp, without forgetting the O Ring watch, a hole in time in the true sense, best seller of the brand Fossil modernising watchmaking codes.

Eugeni Quitllet is a design world freak capable of devouring the whole of our environment in his own way to serve it up to us transformed.
