

Troy design Marcel Wanders

“These new chairs are more than an extension of the Troy collection. They are an extension of possibility. They expand the functionality of space, bringing more comfort to more places. They create more opportunities for people to relax while their spirit is uplifted.”

Marcel Wanders

“Lowering the height of this version of the chair and making it padded and upholstered, allows it to physically and aesthetically fit into more spaces. It allows for more versatility and combination. With and without special armrests it creates more usable space within a residence or hotel setting.”
